WASHINGTON, May 8.— Modification of the antitrust laws was to be President Roosevelt's next demand on congress in his drive to restore fair wages and normal working hours.

The administration, it became apparent today, has decided that industry should be permitted to enter into agreements covering production and wage scales—barring only the creation of monopolies.

Emergency Body
A message probably will go forward to Capitol Hill this week asking for the necessary legislation to ease existing restrictions.

Creation of an emergency body similar to the war industries board is expected to be the federal check of any protective steps that the various industries may undertake.

President Roosevelt is ready to sanction this newest move in the battle to bring back more normal conditions because he has found that many concerns are taking advantage of the depressed situation to hire "sweatshop" labor and undercut reputable firms.

The executive gave clear notice to address Lawrence county's scout

A week from today is "Straw Hat

Signs of renewed industrial activity were noted all the way along the river between here and Pittsburgh by one of Pa. New's boys Saturday.
There was smoke coming from the chimneys of many industrial plants, and the railroads seemed a lot bustier.

Lawrence County is quite well surrounded with Japanese beetle quarantine stations on the highways leading out of the county, towards the north, motorists have observed.
The guards are stationed on the New Castle-Mercer route, and on the Perry highway near Leesburg.

Pa. New's traveled over West Wash-

SHANGHAI, May 8.—Heavy casu-

Japanese renewed their offensive in north China.

Japanese military officials here admitted their eighth division had suffered severe losses in clashes with Chinese in the Chingfeng area. One battalion of 350 men was reduced to 80 in the battle.

Plans Altered.
The Mogi cavalry brigade was reduced by one-half by a surprise Chi-further losses, the Japanese altered their original plans and decided to

Conference Outlook Is Somewhat Gloomy

WASHINGTON, May 8.—The outlook for the world economic conference, only a month away, was considered somewhat gloomy in Washington today.

Great Britain is balking over the tariff truce proposed by President Roosevelt as a necessary prelude to the conference. Britain is withold-ing her assent to the truce until she is assured of some concessions from Washington on her debt to the United States. Those assurances President Roosevelt has been unable or unwilling to give.

Congress is balking at giving Mr.
Roosevelt the free hand he desires to negotiate tariff reductions and "a new deal" on the debts. Any "new deal" on the debts, in congressional opinion, could mean but one thing, partial cancellation, and that that congress is preponderantly opposed.

QUAKE RECORDED AT NEW YORK CITY BY COLLEGE NEEDLE

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 8.—A severe earthquake was recorded today about 2,400 miles southwest of New York by the seismograph at Fordham university.

The first shock was registered at 6:40 a. m. (Daylight Saving time) and continued for two and one-half hours.

The quake was apparently some-

MANY HUNDREDS ARE HOMELESS

Hundred Deputy Police Go
On Duty To Halt Loot-

(International News Service)

ELLSWORTH, Me., May 8.—
Sweeping uncontrolled for seven hours before it was finally checked, fire of suspected incendiary origin today wiped out the business section of this city, jumped into the residential areas, made 200 families homeless and did damage estimated at over a million dollars.

At the height of the fire the water supply became exhausted and firemen from this city and a score of surrounding communities resorted to dynamite to check the conflagration.

No Casualties.

As relief agencies set to work to provide food and shelter for the homeless and a checkup showed no casualties, except for a few persons with minor burns, police, with a hundred citizens sworn in as deputies, went on guard duty in the burned districts to prevent looting.

The police and fire departments, together with state officials, launched an investigation, the official opinion being that the fire was of incendiary origin.

Some estimates of the damage wrought by the flames went as high as $2,500,000.

City hall, the Methodist and Baptist churches, Hancock hall, a bank, large business blocks and 200 stores and dwellings were destroyed.

Telephone and lighting systems were wiped out, adding to the confusion.

The flames cut a path 500 yards wide, leveling 25 stores, 60 dwellings and many smaller structures. Forty yachts owned by summer residents were destroyed.

Mayor Harold U. Moore swore in a hundred citizens, including members of the local American Legion post, to act as deputies. State highway police took charge of the tangled traffic situation.

A high wind aided the spread of the flames, with apparent small incendiary fires helping the progress of the main blaze.

group, Connery said, will demand that foreign imports be brought

Pinchot Considers State Hospital Aid

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 8.—The extent of the financial assistance which state-aided hospitals may expect from the commonwealth during the two-year period starting June 1 is wholly uncertain, Edward
B. Logan, secretary of the budget, said today in explaining the administration's views of the legislature's appropriation work.

Separate appropriations bills for all state-aided hospitals were passed carrying an aggregate of $8,804,740.
This was $2,304,740 more than the budget recommendation of Governor Cofford Pinchot. In addition, an omnibus bill, listing all hospitals for a total of $2,222,140, was passed.

Under the law the governor may approve an appropriation bill in an amount less than the figure specified in the bill. According to Logan, the governor may have to reduce all hospital bills to meet the estimates of revenue. Then the amounts in the omnibus bill will be subtracted from the figures approved in the separate bills because the omnibus measure is contingent upon approval of the bond issue in November.

With approval of the separate bills by the governor, one contingency will have been removed.
State-aided hospitals then will have an additional two million dollars at stake at the polls in November.

PROVINCETOWN, Mass.,
May 8.—Kenneth Buck, 28-year-old kidnaper of Peggy McMath, told newspapermen while he was awaiting to be arraigned in the district court here today that others beside his brother, Cyril Buck, were involved in the kidnaping.

First he said there were two others involved—then, under further questioning, became evasive and secretive and would not say specifically whether there was only one more in the kidnap plot or two more.

"I won't say anything else," he cried again and again after he had committed himself.

To Be Arraigned.
Harwich, Mass., May 8.—A closing chapter in one of America's most sensational kidnappings will be written in the arraignment today of Kenneth Buck, confessed kidnaper of ten-year-old Margaret ("Peggy") McMath, and his brother, Cyril, who acted as his accomplice in contacting the girl's family in ransom negotiations.

From the Barnstable county jail where the Buck brothers have been confined following their arrest Friday they will be taken 40 miles by automobile to historic Provincetown, on the extreme tip of Cape Cod, where they will be arraigned before Judge Robert J. Welch in the old town hall in the shadow of the Pilgrim monument.

Serious Charges.
They will be arraigned on charges of kidnaping, extortion and accessory after the fact of kidnaping.

A speedy trial, probably within six weeks, will be demanded. It is planned to summon the grand jury into special session in the near future to vote indictments against them.

Unlike the Lindbergh case this kidnaping had a happy ending.
"Peggy" is back home with her overjoyed parents, safe and unharmed; the $500 ransom which was paid has been recovered; the Massachusetts state police are being showered with congratulations for their quick and efficient work in solving the mystery and the perpetrators of the crime are behind prison bars.

LEADERS DEFER ON TARIFF-SLASHING PLANS

President Seeks Big Tariff Powers

Roosevelt To Insist On Congress Granting Tariff Making Powers To Him

ECONOMIC RELIEF MEASURES AT STAKE

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 8.—The fate of eight great economic relief measures hung in the balance today while Democratic leaders sought to persuade President Roosevelt against asking Congress for power to slash the tariff and postpone foreign debt payments.

The President, backed by Secretary of State Hull, was reported insisting on adoption of a resolution by Congress, giving him power to negotiate reciprocal tariff-slashing treaties and to grant another moratorium on the June 15 debt payments. The President was pictured as regarding these concessions necessary to insure the success of the London economic conference next month.

Urge Against Course

Delegations of House and Senate Democrats planned to call on the president within the next few days to urge him against this course. They were prepared to tell him bluntly his whole emergency relief program would be jeopardized by any act, plunging Congress into a bitter struggle over foreign debts and the tariff.

Democratic leaders were prepared to take this unusual step because of the tremendous opposition in Congress to any further concession to the debtor nations. They likewise realized that the Republican minorities in House and Senate would unite as a man in fighting any grant of power to the president to slash tariffs, while even the Democratic majorities would be divided on this issue.

The President was expected to yield to the advice of his congressional leaders because so much of his relief program remains to be enacted. He can expect prompt approval of the huge farm relief mortgage relief-inflation bill, on which House and Senate conferees have agreed. And final measures would be jeopardized.

The list would include the Glass-Steagall banking bill, with its federal insurance of bank deposits and relief for distressed cities; the proposed business control act, with its tightening of anti-trust laws; the Black 30 hour week bill; his proposed new public works act; his railroad reorganization bill, just sent to Congress; the national "Blue Sky" law with its protection security investors; the Wagner-Peyette-Costigan unemployment relief bill, with its funds for feeding the hungry unemployed; the home loan bank bill, with its relief for small home owners and the Fletcher bill, providing relief for insurance companies.

DR. MARIA WHITE ENDS 47 YEARS OF SERVICE IN INDIA

up the study of medicine. She attended the Women's Medical College of Baltimore and Johns-Hopkins, doing her post-graduate work at the Post-Graduate School in New York, the first woman to be admitted to the school.

All the time she was in medical school, Dr. White was preparing for the foreign mission field. She felt there was a need for a woman physician for the women of India and this was the goal that beckoned her on. The fact that there had never been a woman physician sent out to India did not deter her, she felt there was a genuine need and offered her life and abilities towards filling that need. On September 15, 1886 she sailed for India and landed there on November 10, 1886.

Khyber Pass District

Dr. White was assigned to the upper end of the Punjab in Sialkot. Slightly over 100 miles away is the famous Khyber Pass where in 1885 a British regiment made a heroic march against the Afghans through a pass thought to be impregnable against attack up into Afghanistan. The trip made by the young woman doctor was from Philadelphia to Liverpool and from there to Bombay. Rough seas nearly wrecked the ship but a safe landing was finally accomplished and Dr. White set out for Sialkot. Here she found conditions unspeakably bad among the women of India. They had received no medical attention, they were left to shift for themselves and the task ahead looked to be insuperable. It took all the faith and courage and moral strength of the young doctor to look the facts in the face and then stay, but she did.

Immediately Dr. White set about organizing a Memorial Hospital in memory of the missionary women who had died in the Indian service. Gradually she overcame obstacles until the hospital was on a sound footing and she then began organizing the White Memorial hospital at Pasrur, in memory of her parents. Through the years she experienced things that might have deterred one whose moral fiber was weaker. Never physically strong herself, Dr. White came through epidemics of cholera, small pox and other vicious diseases, cared for the children survivors, and aided in bringing the diseases under control. Four different times she was quarantined from the rest of the white workers in the district and spent her days and nights among the victims of the pestilences. And all of it without ever contracting any of the diseases herself. "The Lord took care of me" is her explanation.

India Has Advanced

"India has made some remarkable strides in the 47 years I have been in touch with developments there," said she. "In many respects its political and economic advancement has been more rapid than some of the more favored nations. These advancements have been made under the most terrific handicaps."

"One of the handicaps is the caste system practiced in the Hindu or Brahmin religion. This is the religion that divides its people into castes from the Brahmins or priests down through the Thakurs, the Harindis, the Khatris and on down to the Untouchables, who are not permitted to mingle with the other people. Actually the physical condition of the Untouchables is often better than the upper classes, for the Untouchables eat meat while the Brahmins and the other castes do not. The meat gives the Untouchables more resistance against disease. The Untouchables do all the filthy work, the scavenging, the tanning and whatever menial tasks are to be done. With the Brahmin religion is the Mohammedan religion and the Sikhs. The Brahmin religion is the oldest but the Mohammedan religion is the largest in India."

"We found much difficulty in treating the women because of the caste system. One caste was prejudiced against the other and they kept away from the Untouchables."

Ghandi Losing Ground

Asked his opinion of Mahatma Ghandi, Dr. White said "Ghandi is losing ground in India. He is an aesthetic and for a time his leadership was accepted without question. However after the last London conference his actions seemed to run counter to his words and his plan for more equitable conditions for the Untouchables seemed to be insincere."

"His revolt against the Salt Tax was a silly thing for the salt tax is an infinitesimal one. With the tax included I could buy enough salt for two annas (about five cents) to last my home a month. However he and his followers conducted a campaign of passive resistance against the imposition of a salt tax, because they argued the salt came from Indian ground which belonged to them and should therefore be exempt from taxes."

"It has been a full life" said Dr. White. "At times it was hard and yet I had my life. I have over again I would not change a jot or tittle of it. Knowing the hardships and privations of it all I would cheerfully go through it again because I know that we have been able to help the women of India."

Dr. Roberts is a guest in the home of Miss Cordelia Roberts of Boyles avenue at the present time and she has rested from her long journey from the land of the Himalayas.

PRESIDENT TELLS NATION OF PLANS; ALSO OF RESULTS

of this invention last night in his second radio accountancy of his eight weeks in the White House.

Unfair Conditions

"The unfair ten percent could produce goods so cheaply" he said, "that the fair ninety percent would be compelled to meet the unfair conditions."

"Here is where the government comes in. Government ought to have the right and will have the right, after surveying and planning for an industry, to prevent, with the assistance of the overwhelming majority of the industry, the unfair practices and to enforce this agreement by the authority of government."

"The so-called anti-trust laws were intended to prevent the creation of monopolies and to forbid unreasonable profits to those monopolies."

"That purpose of the anti-trust laws must be continued, but these laws were never intended to encourage the kind of unfair competition that results in long hours, starvation wages and overproduction." Mr. Roosevelt gave his radio account of his stewardship in simple language.

Accomplishments

"Two months ago," he said "we were facing a serious problem. The country was dying by inches."

He listed nine steps, accomplished or in the making, that his administration had put forward to meet the situation. They were:

1. Employment of 250,000 men in the national forests;
2. Opening of the Tennessee River basin for an ambitious program for power production, agricultural expansion, reforestation, etc.;
3. Relief of the farmer's burden by easement of his mortgage indebtedness;
4. Extension of $500,000,000 direct relief to states, counties and municipalities;
5. Legalization of 3.2 beer with its ensuing revenue;
6. A projected public works program, expected to be submitted to Congress within the next few days;
7. Definite farm relief through the bill controlling commodity prices;
8. Well considered and conservative measures—as yet to be submitted to Congress—for the regulation of wages, "cut-throat" competition and working hours; and
9. Reorganization of the railroads.

Defends Inflation

The President defended his inflation policy by pointing out that in the past the government had agreed to redeem nearly thirty billions of dollars in debts in gold, while private corporations had underwritten 60 to 70 billions in securities and mortgages on like security, whereas "They knew full well that all of the gold in the United States amounted to only between three and four billions and that all of the gold in all of the world amounted to only about eleven billions."

Alas! By the time you earn money enough to enjoy life, you are working so hard you don't have time.

PA NEW OBSERVES

department his hearty thanks in behalf of all those who use this thoroughfare.

The Japanese beetle inspectors were on the job as usual Sunday afternoon at the Lawrence county offices on the main highway. One of the inspectors says that a youngster offered to allow him to inspect a lettuce sandwich he had been eating!

One of the Pa New family lost a bill fold and key ring in Union township yesterday. It was found by a youth who turned it over to Captain Harvey Bhatnagar of Troop F and thence back to the owner. It was a fine act on the part of the young man and this may let him know, who ever he is, that it was appreciated.

Some improvement work is in the wind at Troop F stables, West Washington street extension. If the plans materialize, and it looks as though they will, the stables will have a new office, a new saddle room and a ladies' rest room.

If dragged a little and asked a little, wouldn't the bed of the old Youngstown car line be one swell-giggle path for the users of the Troop F saddle horses? That is an idea that is not original with Pa New, but reserves Pa's endorsement. That is, if it would not involve expense and too much work. And there is no reason why it should, since the rails and ties have already been removed. A couple tressies would have to be boarded over solid.

Reports from all over the nation seem to indicate the upturn of industry and business.

The city has restored to service again the needed traffic signal at the busy corner of East Washington street and Croton avenue.

Pa New learns of two New Castle fishermen, who spent the day at Mercer recently, and caught a nice string of suckers. On returning home they discovered the fish were missing, and then remembered that they had left them attached to a line along the creek bank where they had been fishing. They returned to Mercer and found the fish just as they had left them.

PLAN TO ARRAIGN TWO BROTHERS IN GIRL KIDNAPING

ulated the commonwealth on "the truly splendid work" of Brigadier-General Daniel Needham, in charge of the investigation, and the Massachusetts state police.

The kidnaper, Kenneth Buck, was a craven figure today. He is 28 years old an unemployed chauffeur, married and the father of a six-year-old boy, Kenneth, Jr.

Forty-Year Sentence

He faces a long term in prison. The crime of kidnapping carries a maximum penalty in this state of 25 years. The extortion charge probably will add an additional penalty of 15 years, or 40 years in all.

Apparently the enormity of the crime did not dawn upon Kenneth Buck until he found himself a prisoner, grilling by the "ace" police officials and detectives of Massachusetts. After confessing the crime and relating in detail how he kidnapped little "Peggy," he declared: "I am very sorry I did this. I feel terribly ashamed."

Kenneth Buck is a smug-looking, sour-faced man with light brown hair and pinkish cheeks. He is rugged in build and of medium height. In Harwich, where he has lived for years, they all know him as the fellow who went off to the city—New York—and got "smoked up." He came back without a job.

Clears Brother

He alone conceived the scheme of "kidnaping Peggy," he said in his confession. After he had done the deed he dragged his older brother, Cyril, into the mess to act as "contact man" in the ransom negotiations. The idea of abducting the child struck him only two days before he did the job.

"I had no grudge against the McMahons or any of that family," he said. "But I knew there was considerable wealth there. I merely desired to get money."

the leg. The farmer grappled with Day but the latter twisted the muzzle of the gun toward Schmitz and fired, killing him.

Day then battered in the door of Miss Schmitz' room, dragged her out of bed and ordered her to shoot him, threatening to kill the other members of the family unless she complied.

The girl did as she was told and Day fell, fatally wounded. Coroner Herman F. Vierke, after an investigation, said Day's brooding love, which had caused the girl to abhor him, had caused the tragedy.

MAKES CHARGE AGAINST HUSBAND

Called to the South Side district this morning, the police found that James Griffith was accused of abusing his wife, Carstella Griffith, and that he was threatening to kill her. He was brought into the police station and was later turned over to Alderman Wallace J. Ewing, where she made a charge of assault and battery against him.

Three Killed By Tennessee Tornado

Score Of Persons Treated For Injuries In Vicinity Of Covington

(International News Service)
NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 8.—Three Negroes were dead and a score of persons were treated for injuries today after a tornado struck Tipton county in the vicinity of Covington. More than 60 buildings were razed by the twister.

Damage in Iowa.
SIOUX CITY, Ia., May 8.—Miniature tornadoes which swept three Iowa communities left a trail of overturned buildings and uprooted trees and telephone poles today. At Remsen the storm battered a three mile area. Damage was also done by the high winds at Bondurant and Sioux City.

Council Allows Street Openings

After a representative of the Manufacturers Light & Heat company had informed council in formal meeting at city hall today that the main in East Washington street between Water street and the Public Square is a heavy cast iron pipe and not a steel pipe, council rescinded their Friday action and told the company it had the city's permission to make excavations to repair the line where it has been affected by electrolysis. The electrolysis has eaten off the bolts where the pipe is clamped together. The company employees may make 70 openings as stated Friday.

JAPANESE RENEW OFFENSIVE DRIVE IN NORTH CHINA

the northern frontier of Manchukuo, where the trouble with Soviet Russia was threatening.

Meet Resistance.
The Japanese made this sector their first objective in the new drive, which has the ostensible aim of "annihilating" all Chinese troops still offering resistance south of the great wall.

Sharp skirmishes were reported at Nantassu, near the American camp, as well as at Peitaiho, a coastal town south of Shanhaiwan and Chinwangtao. Japanese planes bombed the railway lines at Peitaiho, Luishouying and Changli. Meanwhile, another Japanese and Manchukuo column was moving westward over the Mandarin highway, capturing Yungping on the road to Peiping.

Separate Battle.
While the main drive was in progress, a separate little war raged at Hsinglungshien, east of Koupei pass in the great wall.

Eight days ago a force of 80 Japanese machine-gunners occupied the old wall town and Chinese troops lost 800 men in fruitless attempts to recapture it. These Chinese decided to lay siege to the town in an effort to starve the enemy into submission.

Japanese planes flew over the city, dropping munitions and provisions to the defenders. The Chinese entrenched themselves outside the walls, determined to remain until the Japanese surrender.

All Of Us

BY MARSHALL MASLIN

ASK THE YOUNG PEOPLE

I think the older people are too meek. In the last ten years or so, they've been taking the whole burden of the guilt of the world in their shoulders. Saying to the young people: "All this is our fault. We were fools. We didn't understand. We were criminally careless and idiotic and we should have known better." We have betrayed you and it's up to you, now to take charge and get us out of this mess. We are lost, but you are young and strong and wise and you can save us."

They weep, they wail, they confess their sins. . . and wonder how the young men and the young women are taking that sort of thing. . . Do they think of themselves as bright young invincible angels who were born in accursed times and whose shining duty is to set them right again?

Somehow, I think they have more sense than that. The ones I know don't talk that way, don't feel that way. They have more understanding.

They don't think they're perfect. They know they are not.

They don't think they know everything. They know they don't.

They don't despise the older generation and put all the blame on the old folks. They're too wise for such sweeping condemnation.

Every generation makes its mistakes. Every one that has ever lived has been both blessedly right and tragically wrong. And not one of them ever stands starkly alone in history. We are all links in a long chain that stretches from the primeval ooze to heaven, from the saber-toothed tiger to the angles.

Sometimes we see clearly and sometimes we are muddled. Sometimes we think honestly and capably, but there are other times when we are driven by passionate emotion.

The mistakes we make are the mistakes of the race. We suffer for them and it is right that we should but we merit neither all the blame for our failures nor all the praise for our achievements. . .

And I think the young people who asked to be brought into this world—and they DID ask, through that ancient incessant nagging in the blood of their parents—will not turn savagely on those who are only a little older and accuse them of wicked failure. . .

They despise abject tears but not of honest error. They hate throwing up the sponge, not bold fighting. They are our friends, not our sneering enemies. . . Ask any of them.

THE FINAL STEP

Creation of a large special secret political police in Germany, similar to the defunct Gpu of Russia, marks the complete domination of the lives and thoughts of Germans by the government, which is Hitler.

The purpose of this secret police, of course, is to make secure Hitler's hold upon the reins of power. Freedom of speech already was something virtually unknown in Germany, having been banished by Nazi rule. Now an attempt is to be made to strangle all thought that does not follow the grooves of Hitlerism. There is no reason to doubt that as ruthless measures will be resorted to by the Hitler police as the Gpu makes use of in stifling thought in Russia. The German dictator has shown that he intends nothing shall be too sacred for him to crush in making his will that of the people.

The development is a natural one. It follows the principles of dictatorship of the kind that now rule Germany, Italy and Russia.

Hitler, however, lacks the personal force of either Mussolini or Stalin, which may mean an earlier collapse of the dictatorship in Germany. This, or even more severe methods of maintaining it than those employed in Italy or Russia, seems in prospect.

OLD DOGS—NEW TRICKS

That well-worn phrase, "You can't teach an old dog new tricks," is often used as an excuse for laziness by middle-aged men. The fact of the matter is they can learn just as quickly as youth, but they lack the ambition. Their minds are more seasoned, and by all rules of logic, should grasp things more quickly than the mind of a boy. Tests have proved that a man of fifty can grasp a new language more rapidly than a boy of fourteen; in fact, the man can learn anything more rapidly. The catch is that fewer adults are eager and enthusiastic. Don't be a lazy adult.

MAN AND HIS POWER

From far out in a little western lumber camp comes this story: Three brothers, powerful men, and very much attached to one another, worked as lumbermen. No place for weaklings! One day, as the story goes, the eldest brother was caught beneath a rolling log. It was a large one and beyond the power of any two ordinary men to lift. Fortunately, the other two brothers were nearby and saw the predicament of their elder brother. Did they hesitate to help him? Did they lift it completely off the injured man, thus saving his life?

The next day the same two valiant brothers came back with two friends. They tried to move the log again, but the united power of four brawny men could not budge it one inch!

What is it that gives men this vast superpower in times of emergency? Untried energy, men never knew they had, that leaps into readiness to meet exigencies? You have seen the pursued swifter than the pursuer. You have heard of colossal tasks, seemingly impossible under ordinary conditions, being performed by men and women under the stern whiplash of necessity.

Man's accomplishments are limited only to the power of his mind and will. And he never knows what, and how much, he can do until he really tries. The lumber story moral is obvious.

"The first grocerias," so says "The Business Week," admitted their customers through turnstiles and sifted them out along a railing, past skeptical examiners and cashiers. Thousands regarded this as a challenge, and there was much petty theft. ## Welles Called Ideal Choice For Big Job Cuba Presents

Reports Of Violent Political Methods In Island Republic Inspire Thoughts Of Platt Amendment, But Intervention Held Undesirable

Citizens of the United States recognize the requirements of the Platt amendment which authorizes the United States to intervene in Cuba, "for the maintenance of a government adequate for the protection of life, property and individual liberty," but arguments show that such intervention would be unwelcome to this country. In the circumstances, the selection of Sumner Welles, assistant secretary of state, as envoy to the island republic receives much approval. He is believed especially qualified to establish good relations with Latin America.

"The administration," says the WASHINGTON EVENING STAR, "obviously indicates its purpose to be represented there at this troublesome moment by an envoy who not only speaks the language of the country, but what is even more important, is an experienced student of the Latin temperament and psychology. Our neighbors to the south long have been inclined to complain that the diplomatic representatives dispatched to them by the United States too inadequately understand the peoples to which they are accredited. President Machado and other Cubans will not be able to make such a complaint with reference to Mr. Welles. His extensive career in the foreign service has been devoted almost exclusively to questions affecting our relations with the sister Americas. A former chief of the Latin American division of the state department, he was commissioned by President Harding to negotiate with the Dominican republic, incidentally to the withdrawal of American marines. During the World War, Mr. Welles was assigned to a special mission in Argentina, where German influences were strong and dangerously at work. It is evident that President Roosevelt concluded that Mr. Welles' background and talents possessed by Mr. Welles would enable him to render more vital service in Havana than at Washington. He will take up his duties there at a time when, both in Cuba and some quarters in the United States, demands are heard for another American intervention under the provisions of the Platt amendment. Unfortunately there are all too many indications that the Machado regime has generated political turmoil and unrest far more serious than outward signs of tranquility in Cuba would suggest. There is little doubt that something resembling a reign of terror is the rule under which the island at present has its fevered existence."

"As ambassador to Cuba," thinks the NEW YORK TIMES, "the ability and mettle of the young diplomat will be severely tested. His task will be mediating between President Machado and an opposition that threatens another revolt. Perhaps this can be done in part by adding to right an economic condition that verges on disaster. Mr. Welles, by the way, was one of the General Crowder's assistants when he was seeking to liberalize Cuban election laws. His appointment to deal with the complicated situation in Cuba is as promising a one as could have been made."

The selection of Mr. Welles is viewed by the NASHVILLE BANNER as "unusually happy," and that paper remarks that "those who know him best are confident that his suavity and cool judgment and extensive personal knowledge of conditions in Latin America will prove highly advantageous to the United States in its efforts to perform a neighborly service to the restless republic close to our shores." The Banner concludes that "the United States should not intervene in the affairs of any people to the southward except in obedience to considerations beyond misunderstanding by the Latin American countries."

"We have a responsibility toward that country," in the judgment of the LINCOLN STATE JOURNAL, "which cannot be shirked. If Mr. Welles is masterful enough, he may be able to save his country a great deal of anguish and bother." The CINCINNATI TIMES-STAR quotes the Cuban ambassador's statement that President Roosevelt himself revealed a great knowledge of Cuban affairs and concludes as to his attitude in the present circumstances, that he "makes his major moves with confidence."

"President Machado and his government," according to the SCRANTON TIMES, "are seriously charged by the opposition. Graft, it is said, has flourished during his regime. He has, it is alleged, driven a large number of the country and in addition there are many stories of brutal killings and mysterious disappearances laid to the Machado forces. The press has been suppressed and dispatches tell of the country seething with revolt." On the surface American visitors to Havana have noticed little of the latter. Economic control, in which certain American banks and interests figure is also cited. In view of the circumstances President Roosevelt has been well advised in sending an experienced diplomat, Sumner Welles, to the island as our ambassador. Intervention must be avoided except for the benefit of the Cubans as a whole and not for a clique or would-be officeholders who probably would be an improvement on Machado."

"Gen. Machado," records the OAKLAND TRIBUNE, "assures the correspondents that the killings attributed to his government were 'fair and proper' applications of the 'law de fura' or law-of-fists. Officers under this law may shoot offenders who resist arrest or try to escape." The SANTA MONICA OUTLOOK comments: "President Roosevelt has suggested the reduction in the duty on Cuban sugar as a means of relieving the distress of the island, which has been responsible in a large measure for the lawlessness. This would not affect the quota system under which world sugar production is regulated, but would provide a better price for the Cuban product without creating dangerous competition for the American sugar grower. Whether it would greatly improve political conditions in the island or reduce the oppression and tyranny of the government in power is another matter."

A Methodist minister was traveling through the mountain regions of the South, and stopped at a cabin. Knocking on the door, an old woman answered.

"Beg pardon, Ma'am, but you can tell me if there are any Methodists in these parts?"

"Wa-al-I dunno. My man shot somethin' the other day when he went huntin'—but I dunno if it was Methodist or not. It's hide is tacked up out there on the barn and you can go out and see for yourself."

SHE WANTS A CHANGE

Be sensible, old man, when your wife says she'd like to make a trip, alone, to visit relatives or friends, or places of interest to her.

Sure she likes her home, and she is not tired of you—don't think it. But she wants a little change from her regular routine.

She wants to be free a while, to go out and do as she pleases, and that does not mean be indiscreet—not at all.

You often, in season, arrange hunting or fishing trips without her. But not because your wife has become tiresome to you.

Why don't you see your wife wishes for a little visit with friends in the same light as your hunting or fishing trips?

But she has said she would like a chance to have no one to consider but herself, and that has upset you some, but why should it?

There would be fewer matrimonial wrecks if married folk would appreciate the fact that a complete change occasionally is beneficial on both sides.

It is strange that the men who take time off, and money to go on trips themselves, begrudge the same privilege to their wives.

Don't make that time-worn argument that you work all day and can't rest so you are to be excused—because all anyone wants is change, whether it be from work or rest.

BLACK SHEEP

Sometimes into the finest group there slips

The plunderer and the cheat

Who, with a sullen look upon his lips,

Mocks good men he may meet.

And those who sell their high employment

Are sick with hurt and shame,

That one who has no thought for them

Must share their calling and their fame.

High-minded men forever here must face

With shame's hot burning cheek

The deeds of a hot man who find with them

A place.

The traitorous and the weak.

To every family come the ones who fail—

The strange, black sheep—

And only God knows why they are so frail

And how their fellows weep!

BUY NOW

It was Phelps Newberry, of the Guardian Detroit Bank, that first had the idea of "Buy Now" as a remedy for the business depression. During a radio talk on station WJR, Mr. Newberry said: "Prosperity is made, it doesn't just happen—buy something. Too many people are waiting for business to come back. Business can do nothing of itself because business is dependent on people. It is people who make business, not business that makes people."

All we have to do to bring back prosperity is to buy something. I do not mean that people should go into debt or obligate themselves for things they cannot pay for. But there are millions of people whose incomes either from business, investments or work are not impaired. These people can well afford to buy things they need.

The President now has authority to stop the sale of arms to all organized killers except those at home.

Most Of Hospital Linens Hand Made

Members Of Aide Society At Jameson Memorial Hospital Manufacture Pieces

ANNUAL ROLL CALL BEING CONDUCTED

Nearly 6000 pieces of hospital linens—that was the contribution of Jameson Memorial Hospital Aide Society to the hospital during the year just closed.

Some of these supplies were purchased ready made. Approximately 4500 pieces, however, were cut from yard goods and made up into finished supplies by the hands of Aide Society members.

The Wednesday morning meetings of the Aide Society—held at the hospital—are meetings of intense industry, conducted with factory precision. Eight electric sewing machines and four foot power machines hum a harmony of accompaniment to may nimble fingers of hand sewers and cutters. The result is an aggregate of finished supplies averaging 100 or more new pieces every time a "sewing" is held.

These supplies have great value—money value. The money value of purchased ready-made supplies is easily determined, but the value of the skilled workmanship put into supplies made up by Aide Society workers can not be estimated. Some of the supplies can not be purchased ready made at any price. Others can be purchased only at cost, beyond reach of most any hospital.

Conservatively, the money expenditure made by the Jameson Memorial Hospital Aide Society in favor of the hospital linen supply is worth three times its dollar cost through addition of skilled "making up." The annual roll call for memberships and support is necessary as a means to supply funds with which to purchase materials to be tripled in value by skilled workmanship, generously given at the weekly meetings. ### Plan Final Plays For Collegians

Three One-Act Plays To Be Presented At Westminster On May 19

(Special To The News) NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., May 8.—Three one-act plays, the final dramatic program on the regular schedule this year, will be presented by Westminster College students on Friday, May 19, in the Community House, Professor A. T. Cordray announces.

These plays are: "The Theatre of the Soul," "The Dark Lady of the Sonnets," and "The Plattering Word." These three constitute the Personality. Sara Haney, Sharon, takes the part of the concept of the dancer; and Helen Baerman, Pittsburgh, plays the part of the concept of the wife. # Eastern Star Members Attend Epworth Church

Splendid Sermon On "Ruth" And Concert By Orpheus Choir Is Heard By Women

The annual church service of the Order of Eastern Star was held Sunday evening in the Epworth Methodist church, of which Dr. J. A. Galbreath is pastor.

The members of the various chapters of the city assembled in the Sunday school room of the church and as Mrs. Anna Moore Pyle, member of New Castle Chapter 105, played the procession, about two hundred women marched into the auditorium, headed by Mrs. Carolyn Lindsey, district deputy, Miss Gertrude Potter, worthy matron of New Castle Chapter 105; Mrs. Olive Hewitt, worthy matron of Cathedral Chapter 440, and Mrs. Betsy Bridenbaugh, worthy matron of Shenango Chapter 333, followed by the past worthy matrons, the officers and members.

Misses Helen Allen and Lillian Andrews had a special vocal duet, and the quartet: Misses Allen and Andrews and John Jackson and Russell Rhodes, sang a number.

The pastor preached a most appropriate sermon on "Ruth—the Chosen of God" and at the conclusion of the sermon the Orpheus choir of Pittsburgh, under the direction of John M. Ferguson, with Mrs. Grace Blenko Martin, as accompanist, sang a most beautiful program, their voices harmoniously blending and they rendered the different numbers.

Show Ability In Senior Play

Adrian Heaton Sammy Dennis

Adrian Heaton and Sammy Dennis are members of the graduating class who will appear in the senior play, "Seven Keys to Baldpate". Heaton is cast for the grotesque role of Peters, an unbalanced recluse. His insane cunning and misanthropy precipitate one wild scene after another in the lobby of Baldpate Inn. His strange figure and stranger behavior give considerable opportunity for unusual dramatic effect and young Heaton is said to make the most of his role. He is the son of the Rev. C. H. Heaton.

Sammy Dennis is the well-known senior singer from the senior high school department of vocal music. He is also an expert dancer. As Thomas Hayden in "Seven Keys to Baldpate" he ceases entirely to be himself and struts about on the stage most importantly and arrogantly as a smooth corporation executive. "Sammy" is the born artist and enters into the fast action of the senior melodrama with the same gusto which he puts into his singing and dancing.

Police are soldiers who act alone; soldiers are policemen who act in unison.

Boy Scout troop No. 4 of Mahoningtown met at the usual time at the Madison Avenue Christian church Friday. Twenty-five boys were present with Assistant Scoutmasters Dungan and Clark in charge, according to Acting Scribe Norval Hockman.

Regular troop activities were carried out at the opening of the meeting. Boys were told about the coming camp jamboree. Later a bird house building contest was discussed. This contest is to be carried out in the near future. The troop was checked and divided into four full patrols. Patrol leaders and assistants were appointed. The patrol leaders are Wilbur Welsbaker, Bill Telow, Ted Colichinski and Byrl McCartney. The assistants are Bruce McClure, Bob Walters, John Dibley and George Horchler.

Phil McClure passed his tenderfoot test. Bob Walters and James Emerick passed the compass test. Several of the boys were reviewed on tests passed before. The troop was checked for registration with 28 members now registered. The closing date for registration is set for June 1. The charter will then be made up and the troop will be ready for full activities. The troop meeting is held in regular form with Senior Patrol Leader Norval Hockman in charge.

Because of bad weather the proposed outdoor meeting was postponed but this coming week it will be conducted as previously planned and will be followed by an overnight hike.

New Principle
On CompensationSuperior Court Decision Lays Down New Principle
In State

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, May 8.—Impelled by a desire to alleviate present economic distress, the State Superior Court has laid down a new principle that an injured worker is not entitled to more compensation than the law would allow him on the basis of the number of days he is actually—not theoretically—employed.

Looking at the compensation statute in the light of modern conditions, the Superior court upset the practice of adhering strictly to the requirements of a law that specified an employee must receive compensation aggregating 65 per cent of what he would have earned were he working five and a half days a week. Under this old interpretation, a worker employed only two or three days a week when injured received more in compensation than he actually would have earned were he fully incapacitated. The opinion of the court is expected to give new impetus to the practice of staggering employment so that more men can receive work. If this spreading out of work continues on a large scale, compensation insurance premiums may eventually be slashed, because the benefits paid by companies will be decreased.

FAILURE TO MENTION DEBTS DISAPPOINTS BRITISH

Foreign Debts Unmentioned In Roosevelt Talk

Failure Of President To Touch On Debts In Radio Talk Irks Britain

LONDON PAPERS
FEATURE SPEECH

By HARRY K. REYNOLDS
International News Service Staff Correspondent
LONDON, May 8.—Wide-spread disappointment was expressed in British official circles today over President Roosevelt's failure to mention foreign debts in his radio speech last night.

The speech had been awaited with great anxiety in government circles here, particularly in view of the growing feeling among government authorities that a debt truce is far more urgent than a tariff truce as far as the forthcoming world economic conference is concerned.

Nevertheless, despite the significant omission, the speech received major attention here, and was featured by several morning papers in extra editions.

To Seek Moratorium.

LONDON, May 8.—While decrying the idea of a "debt swap," British officialdom launched a new campaign today to obtain a moratorium on the foreign debt payment due to the United States on June 15.

A high British official told International News Service that neither Britain nor the United States would be satisfied by trading British agreement to the proposed tariff truce for a moratorium on the payment.

He intimated, however, that Britain was attempting to obtain an Anglo-American agreement under which the tariff truce and debt moratorium would mark the opening of the world economic conference here on June 12.

According to this plan, the tariff truce would be announced publicly at the outset of the conference, while the debt moratorium would be decided upon in private consultations, probably during the visit of Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

The British hope Hull and President Roosevelt will sanction the plan with the aim of obtaining congressional approval to indefinite suspension of the payment rather than forcing Britain into a default.

"Swapping the tariff truce for a debt moratorium is most unlikely," the British spokesman said. "Such an exchange would not satisfy the political demands of either side."

"But it is most probable both questions will continue to run in parallel channels without merging."

Police Records Here Show Women Drivers Not Often Arrested

Men are more inclined to violate the traffic and parking regulations of the city than women, according to the records of the city police department and the statements of the officers and officials of the force.

Women seldom, if ever are offenders of the more serious character, in fact it is rare that a woman is arrested for speeding, double parking or reckless driving. Some men are the culprit in ninety-nine cases out of every hundred.

In the past year there was but one case in which a woman was involved that even looked like a case of driving a car while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. There were probably two score instances where men motorists faced the possibility of a similar charge.

There may be a reason, according to officers experienced in handling this kind of business. The tendency on the part of the officer is to be more courteous to a woman and warn her, also there is an apparent tendency on the part of women to drive more carefully, to avoid the use of intoxicating liquor and then trying to drive their machines or do those things that result in the more serious infractions of the traffic regulations.

Women are most frequently violators of the regulations regarding parking in places where parking is prohibited, parking too near a fire hydrant, parking too long and parking too far from the curb. But in spite of this fact, the women violators, according to the records, equal but approximately ten per cent of the total even in these minor infractions of traffic and parking regulations.

Mrs. Pinchot To Parade Again In Allentown Strike

Fighting Along With Mayor Lewis Of Allentown For Girl Workers

(International News Service)
ALLENTOWN, Pa., May 8.—The first lady of state, Mrs. Cornelia Bryce Pinchot, today was expected to march a third time with child pickets against sweatshop conditions in local shirt mills.

Camera men will make a film record of the rally and through the news-reel, Mrs. Pinchot will send a verbal message to the nation, asking support for enactment of minimum wage laws.

Meanwhile, steps were taken to co-ordinate the three separate investigations now going forward into sordid tales of white slavery and immorality which girl workers, who received as low as 50 cents a week for their long hours of work, told Mrs. Pinchot and other state officials.

Fight To Finish

The Lehigh county district attorney's office, Mayor Fred E. Lewis' commission to study sweatshops and the state commission named for a similar purpose, will meet tomorrow or Wednesday to consolidate their activities.

Mayor Lewis announced that he will fight to the last ditch for abolition of the sweatshops. "I started this thing and I will see to it that it comes to a proper end. Nothing will be left undone that should be done," he asserted.

Lindberghs Are Held At Columbus By Rainy Weather

COLUMBUS, O., May 8.—A low ceiling and a heavy rainfall may keep Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh "land bound" here today.

The Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh landed here at 8:32 o'clock last night. Field officials at the port failed to hear the plane approaching and the Lindberghs were forced to land "blind" without the aid of floodlights.

Detective Is Given Warning At Pittsburgh

Friends Of John Maug, Escaped Prisoner, Threaten Detective Morgan

OFFICER PLANS TO WORK HARDER

Reveal Prisoners Stayed In Chicken Coop For Three Days Near Pittsburgh

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, May 8.—Gangster's threat to "get" Detective Thomas Morgan if he does not "lay off" in the hunt of John Maug, mob leader who escaped from Western penitentiary ten days ago, today resulted in intensification of the search for the murderer and his pal Edward Turpack.

A grim message, scrawled on a sheet of heavy brown wrapping paper with a tombstone inked into it, read:

Officer Unafraid
"If you don't want to be filled with lead you better lay off Maug. If Maug don't get you one of us will and you will be pushing up daisies." The threat was unsigned.

The deft was answered by Morgan by saying the gangs are "going to be disappointed" if they expect him to lay down.

"I helped to round up Maug and his gang before, and I will do it again. This threat to bump me off doesn't frighten me. If Maug and his gang think they can intimidate me and cause me to ease up on the search, they're going to be disappointed. I'm going to work that much harder now that I have been threatened."

In Chicken Coop
Announcement of the threat being received was accompanied by detectives placing the blame of Maug and Turpack's escape from a suburban farm directly at the feet of precinct police. The fugitives had stayed in a chicken coop on a Baldwin township farm for three days, it was revealed today. The pair had threatened the residents of the farm with death if they notified police of the hideout.

Detective Morgan was one of the officers who arrested the Maug mob in connection with the murder of Vernon "Port" Moses, a constable.

Peer to Wed Rajah's Daughter

The Earl of Inchcape, 45-year-old British peer, and Miss Leonora Brooke, daughter of Sir Charles Vyner Brooke, White Rajah of Sarawak, Northern Borneo, whose engagement was announced in London recently. Miss Brooke, who is 21, is the granddaughter of Sir James Brooke, who in 1840 suppressed a revolt in Borneo against Rajah Muda Hassim. To show his gratitude, the Rajah resigned in favor of the Englishman.

Coal Operators Open Convention At Pittsburgh

Hope To Solve Problem What To Do With 200,000 Miners And Families

ASK GOVERNMENT TO TAKE HAND

General Note Of Optimism Among Delegates To The American Mining Congress

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, May 8.—With solution of the problem of what to do with 200,000 miners and their half-million dependants made permanent jobless through mechanization their chief concern, some 3,500 coal operators and allied industrialists gathered here today for the five-day convention of the American Mining Congress Coal convention.

Officials of the convention announced the problem of "placing" the machine-discarded miners would be at the top of the list of discussions for the week as delegates began streaming into the city from all sides.

The federal government, it was understood, will be asked to take a hand in solving the riddle, which, because of its magnitude and multi-sided aspect, is considered too large for any single group.

Optimism Prevails
A general note of optimism prevailed among the early arriving delegates today. Much of the sentiment was summed up tersely by J. B. Warriner of Philadelphia, president of the congress. He said:

"By economies, by the search for and adoption of new devices and new methods, not only in operation but in selling, the industry is slowly solving its problems and moving forward."

"There can be no doubt of ultimate success."

From that statement also was gleaned another of the important topics on the convention agenda for the week—the cooperative sales agency plan. This method of pooling sales forces by districts has been sanctioned by the United States Supreme court in the case of Appalachian Coals, Inc., a southern selling group, and other districts are rapidly moving to effect similar organizations.

King-Pinchot Controversy Up To State Court

Chairmanship Of Commission To Be Decided By Supreme Court

SHELBY TO SERVE AS HEAD OF BODY

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, May 8.—The state supreme court of Pennsylvania will be asked to decide who is chairman of Pennsylvania's Public Service Commission, Attorney General William A. Schnader announced at his office here today.

Meanwhile, in order that the work of the commission not be disrupted, Dr. Clyde L. King, and C. J. Goodnough, the two rival chairmen, have agreed to absent themselves from meetings of the body and allow S. Ray Shelby, of Uniontown, the senior member, to act as chairman, Schnader said.

Quo warranto proceedings against Dr. King, who asserted he would not relinquish the chair although Gov. Gifford Pinchot appointed Goodnough to succeed him, will be instituted in the state supreme court within the week, the attorney general said. Dr. King's appointment was not confirmed in the last session of the senate and the governor, failing to renominate him to the commission, instead named Goodnough as chairman.

Schnader issued the following statement at his office here:

"In view of Dr. King's refusal to relinquish his position as a member and chairman of the public service commission as of the date of adjournment of the Senate, it will be necessary for me to institute quo warranto proceedings against him in the supreme court of Pennsylvania."

"To avoid any interference with the orderly conduct of the work of the commission, pending determination of the case, Mr. Roland S. Morris, Dr. King's attorney and I have agreed that without prejudice to either side, both Mr. Goodnough and Dr. King will absent themselves from meetings of the commission thus permitting S. Ray Shelby to serve as acting chairman for the time being."

"Mr. Morris advises me that Dr. King has consented and it is satisfactory to Mr. Goodnough."

Thus by instituting quo warranto proceedings, the attorney general will bring the case before the state supreme court in short order. The court meets at Harrisburg on May 22 and it is expected to consider the case at that time.

William Firth, 38, 366 West Delaware avenue, Youngstown, is in the New Castle hospital with arms and legs bruised and probable internal injuries as the result of a truck he was operating shortly before noon having overturned outside the city limits on the New Castle-Harlan'sburg highway.

According to State Highway patrolmen, Firth was operating a truck for the Workingmen's Overall Supply Company.

State Highway patrolmen arrived quickly on the scene. He was rushed to the New Castle hospital.

Form Of License Blank Received By Treas. W. O. Pitts

Nothing Of A Complicated Nature To Fill Out By Applicants For License

County Treasurer William O. Pitts, this morning received an advance copy of the blanks to be used by applicants for licenses under the recent beverage license law. Accompanying it is a blank form of bond, which applicants must give in the sum of $1,000 each.

The form is rather simple, requiring first, that the applicant give his name and address, and whether he is a native born citizen or has been naturalized.

Then he is to give a description of the place for which license is asked. This is to include the length of the lunch counter, the number of chairs and tables, and the number of persons who can be seated in the place at one time. Measurements of the room are also required.

Another question which must be answered is whether or not the place is to be "visible." That it is understood to mean whether or not there are screens on the doors and windows. Nothing is said about the prohibition of screens. The applicant is simply required to answer the question "Will or will not the room be visible?"

The applicant is also to answer as to the nature of the other business conducted in the place, and whether or not any person, other than the applicant is financially interested.

This is about all there is to the application blanks except that it must contain the names of twelve citizens who must certify that they know the applicant, and have reason to believe that the statements he has set forth in his application are true.

The blanks can be obtained through a printing firm at the expense of the county. The county treasurer does not get any fee for issuing the license. County Treasurer Pitts will order blanks at once.

Arguments Continue On Result Of Derby

Many Believe Head Play Was Fouled By Jockey Meade And Vice Versa

Jockeys Battle With Fists After Race; Colonel Bradley Has Fine Horse

By DAVID J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, May 8.—It is all of thirty six hours later, but the argument and greatly embittered controversy are still arguing the merits this morning of the fifth ninth, the fair-on-foul or Dempsey-Sharkey edition of the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs.

The records will say that broker's tip, of the E. R. Bradley Stable, came like the wind in the stretch to win by a nose from Head Play in 2:06 4-5 for a mile and a quarter. The stewards have already said so, pointing out the plea of H. W. Fisher, the losing jockey, that he was fouled by the boy on Broker's Tip.

Opinion Divided
The result was to divide the experts into four distinct groups, some what after this fashion:

1. Those who were sure they saw the foul: 2. Those who were sure they saw the foul after others said it for them: 3. Those who saw several fouls: 4. Those who saw none.

The first two groups were equally positive on another point: That the best horse was beaten. Personally I have not set or established notions about that, my only reaction being that, if the best horse didn't win, the better jockey did.

Meade Good Jockey
"I'm talking about Don Meade who brought Broker's Tip from eleventh in a field of thirteen at the half past to ninth at three quarters; to third at the mile, third in the stretch and first right on the wire, giving Bradley his fourth derby winner since 1921.

Contrast this performance with that of Fisher who began making his run with head play no less than a mile from home. At this premature juncture he apparently was obsessed with the idea that he had to beat good advice, Isaiah and Dark Winter, not realizing that that kind always beat themselves. The result was that Head Play, a good horse, just didn't have enough left when the time came.

Stretch Exhibition
Did Meade really grab Fisher's saddle cloth in the final yards, committing a foul, as charged? One would think he must have, what with Fisher slashing at the other's head with his whip before and after the finish and later weeping openly in front of the unimpressed stewards.

However, observers that were not swayed either by bias or sentiment saw the incident only as the climax of a stretch exhibition in which both jockeys tried to ride the other's horse. A photograph of the finish clearly shows Fisher himself clutching at the blanket of Broker's Tip with Meade making a pass of some kind at Head Play. They say the morose young men even took a punch at each other in the jockey's room after the race.

There isn't any doubt now that rough riding was flagrant during that tingling stretch run that saw Meade come up on the inside with Broker's Tip and riding as though glued to Head Play's side, just to get the winner's nose over.

Ladysman Fourth
Offhand I'd say that probably the best horse finished second and the second best finished fifth. The Coe stable featured Ladysman, the favorite, but it was Pomponius who came from all the way back beyond the Ohio river somewhere to finish fifth and almost run over the faltering Ladysman in the final furlongs. Charley O. had been prominent to this point. But he just didn't have the legs and finished four lengths off the first pair in third place. As for Ladysman he broke fifth went to sixth, then fifth and finally fourth. This kind is hard to like. Similarly Mr. Khayam never was better than eighth though once he was eleventh. The rules say you don't have to kill that kind, either.

Largest Crowds Of Year See Double Bills In Six Big League Parks

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 8.—If the baseball magnates want to get out of the red this year they will do well to adopt Sam Breadon's pet idea—the Sunday double-header. A total of 208,000 fans, an average of approximately 35,000 per game, saw yesterday's six twin bills, and they were rewarded by some highly spectacular performances.

A crowd of 55,000, the biggest of the season, saw Earl Averill get eight hits, seven of them in a row, against the Yankees in Cleveland.

The Catholics formerly were the Richmans. They have won seven games. Del Ross will pitch for them. Heasley and Peachy will be the battery for the Radiators.

RADIATORS CARD TWO

The National Radiator mushball team will play two games this week, as follows: Tuesday night with Richmans at the Radiator field at 6:45 o'clock. Friday night with St. Andrews at the Gaston Park field.

FOREST A. C. WINS

The Forest A. C. mushball team handed the Smith A. C. an 18 to 8 setback Saturday afternoon at the Paul street field. The Smith A. C. had seven errors. C. Benacore featured the game with a homer.

Two National Games Today

Three Games Will Be Played In American Division, Tuesday

Cardinals Gain Good Infielder

Leo Durocher May Give Cards

Punch To Land Pennant, Hornsby Benched

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 8.—The St. Louis-Cincinnati trade yesterday which brought shortstop Leo Durocher to the Cardinals, made them a dangerous contender for the National league pennant but may spell "curtains" for Rogers Hornsby, seven times league batting champion.

With Durocher at shortstop, Frisch moved back to second base to replace Hornsby, and with a fine pitching staff, St. Louis has the best defensive team in the league.

Hornsby, troubled by weak underpinning in his comeback attempt, is relegated to the role of utility infielder and pinch hitter. He may not survive the housecleaning when the reduced player limit goes into effect a week from today.

Bessemer Wants Baseball Games

Bessemer, Lawrence County league team, has some dates not taken up by league games and would like to arrange tilts which can be booked by telephoning 8058 after 10 p. m. E. S. T. The Bessemer team is composed of W. Stanley, W. Puromaki, T. Puromaki, O. Nord, P. Nord, A. Snyder, L. Faust, F. Grist, C. Craft, L. Benson, J. Vlah and J. Percie.

Two Hit Games.

Bob Smith, former infielder who once pitched a 22-inning game against the Cubs, joined the long list of hurlers who have narrowly missed a no-hit game this year. Sambo Leslie's homer with two out in the seventh inning in the first game of the Giants-Reds twin bill, was the first of two hits made off Smith.

To crown Smith's misfortune, the blow won the game, 1 to 0. Carl Hubbell, pitching his third shut-out this season, held the Reds to five hits.

The Giants advanced to within a game and a half of the idle Pirates when Young Hal Schumacher blanked the Reds again in the nightcap, 5 to 0, yielding two hits, both singles. Vergez hit a homer and Jack Quinn, completing his 30th year in baseball, made his debut as a relief pitcher with the Reds. He was released by Brooklyn last week.

Schumacher Good.

Schumacher's effort, following his five-hit game two weeks ago, stamps the Giants as a powerful pennant contender.

Burleigh Grimes and Lon Warneke hurled Chicago to a double win over the Braves, 11 to 2 and 5 to 2. Warneke helping win his own game with a homer. Stephenson, Hartnett and Babe Herman also homered for the Cubs. It was Warneke's fourth victory.

Dizzy Dean of the Cardinals again beat Brooklyn, 12 to 5, with up by league games and would like to arrange tilts which can be booked by telephoning 8058 after 10 p. m. E. S. T. The Bessemer team is composed of W. Stanley, W. Puromaki, T. Puromaki, O. Nord, P. Nord, A. Snyder, L. Faust, F. Grist, C. Craft, L. Benson, J. Vlah and J. Percie.

Shenango And Bessemer To Play

Steel Leads In Market Advance

Steel And Utilities Take Leadership As Selling Is Well Absorbed

STEEL CAPACITY INCREASED TO 33

(International News Service)
NEW YORK May 8.—Wall Street's bull forces were stimulated by President Roosevelt's radio address to the nation and rallied behind the stock market today.

Opening prices were higher but this was followed by a setback. The selling was taken in good style, however, and a broad advance followed in the second hour under the leadership of the steels and utilities.

Bonds were irregular while the dollar lost further ground against the gold standard currencies. Commodities rallied after an early sinking spell with corn and silver pointing higher.

The steels were stimulated by a further bulge in the industry to 33 per cent of capacity and reports that U. S. Steel's unfilled tonnage report on Wednesday would show a substantial increase.

Utilities were led forward by American Telephone and Consolidated Gas. The rails responded to Saturday's traffic upturn and reports of further improvement in loadings with Atchison, N. Y. Central and Union Pacific strong spots.

Goodyear led a brisk buying movement in the rubbers while the depressed motion picture issues were aided by strength in Loews's.

Jury To Decide Which Woman Is Actual Slayer

Strange Murder Case At Uniontown Will Be Unravelled In Court

ESTRANGED HUSBAND OF WOMAN SLAIN

(International News Service)
UNIONTOWN, Pa., May 8.—Solution of the John A. Brooks slaying, one of the queerest cases in the annals of Fayette county's criminal history, will be a matter left entirely upon the jury which will try two women—one the estranged wife of the victim, the other his mother-in-law—for the fatal shooting, in the opinion today of Attorney Alex Goldstein, counsel for both defendants.

Attorney Goldstein said that when he confers with the women both proclaim their guilt.

Free on Bail.
Mrs. Minnie Wroe, 60, of Dunbar and her daughter, Mrs. Emma Brooks, both are charged with the slaying. The mother is free on $10,000 bail while the daughter is in jail in default of that amount.

Both women insist they fired the shot which ended the life of Brooks in the Dunbar home of Mrs. Wroe. The older woman first pleaded guilty but later withdrew her plea.

Women on Jury.
Defense counsel indicated its intention to have as many women as possible placed on the jury to determine the guilt or innocence of the mother-daughter defendants.

Brooks according to police, was shot while the three wrestled for possession of a revolver that was brandished during a quarrel over Mrs. Brooks' alleged attentions to another man.

SLIGHT ACCIDENT
Ewing Burnham of 38 Euclid avenue, Struthers, O., reported to the police on Sunday that he was en route north on North Ray street at Croton avenue and made the required main thoroughfare stop, when Mrs. A. Snodgrass of West Pittsburgh ran into the rear of his car with her machine. Some damage was done to both cars.

Beer Stamp Sales Reported Brisk

Over $125 Contributed For Stamps Over Week End Here

Beer drinkers in the city contributed to the state revenues over the week end, not to any heavy amount but to the extent of $125 in bottle taxes. Twenty five thousand half cent bottle tax stamps were sold by the First National Bank of Lawrence County on Saturday, which was the total number of stamps on hand. A rush order was sent in for a new supply and these are on hand today.

Each bottle of beer on hand when the new tax law went into effect had to be stamped either by the wholesaler or the retailer. Beer manufactured and delivered after the new law went into effect are stamped at the breweries, but many dealers here had fairly large stocks on hand. One wholesaler had 500 cases on hand, which means 12,000 bottles. Retailers had anywhere from five to twenty five cases on hand and apparently all of them endeavored to comply with the law by purchasing tax stamps.

The stamps provided by the state cost the state practically nothing. There was on hand thousands of old transfer tax stamps of various denominations. These were pressed into service and the words "Pint, Bev. Tax" stamped on them. Apparently the law means a pint or fraction thereof for the contents of beer bottles is 12 ounces, less than a pint.

The First National has a large supply of stamps on hand today and sales at noon were reported to be fairly brisk.

Nevada Slayer Is Executed In Lethal Chamber

Ray Elmer Miller, 34, Dies In Gas Chamber; Killed Wife During Quarrel

(International News Service)

CARSON CITY, Nev., May 8.—Sodium cyanide pellets that gave off the fragrance of almond blossoms were dropped into a pall of sulphuric acid beneath a chair in which a man sat strapped. They created a deadly gas in the 12-foot square lethal gas chamber of the Nevada state penitentiary. And through double plate glass windows 24 persons watched dawn today as the state executed Ray Elmer Miller, 34, for the murder of his pretty young wife because she wanted to divorce him.

Wanted To Die
Miller was unconscious 15 seconds after the chamber was flooded with the gas and was pronounced dead in 13 minutes. He showed no emotion as guards strapped him in the death chair. He didn't look at the witness who saw him die.

Miller did not seek commutation of his sentence. He steadfastly maintained that his wife "had it coming to her," and that "I want to die."

Miller was the sixth murder to die in the square stone chamber since Nevada adopted this method of execution in 1921.

Families collecting the large gift packages had registered earlier.

ROAMING With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

In the summer of 1917 something over 100 lads left New Castle bound for Mount Gretna. Their whole world was wrapped up in a blanket roll, they stood right in the middle of their wardrobe, they were on their way to war.

From Mount Gretna they went to Camp Hancock, Augusta, Georgia, where there were acres of scrub oak, pine and cottonwood to be grubbed out before they had a home on the sands, and August and September in August are no months of refrigeration.

Then the drills, morning and afternoon, equitation, rifle practice, all of them for the purpose of making better cavalrymen out of the New Castle lads. Then December and the cavalry was broken into bits. Some of them went to the artillery, some to infantry, others to machine guns, engineers, sanitary squads, Q. M. C. and whatnot.

What is left of that old group of 100 or more cavalrymen who left here in the summer of 1917 is planning a reunion for next month along with the balance of the Twenty Eighth Division. From all over Pennsylvania the red keystone men will be coming in, ready to live over the days spent in the sand at Augusta, or the Argonne or to sing of the charms of the Mademoiselle from Armentieres.

Not all of the old 100 are around here to attend the reunion. Two of them stayed in France. Johnny Bruno was killed only recently in the service at Camp Lewis, Washington. Lee Horner is in California. Joe Chambers is in Florida. But for the most part they are around this district, and rather for the reunion of the divisions here next month.

There never was a camp like Hancock, at least in the minds of those who trained there. Sand a foot deep on the parade grounds and sun that was brassy and molten as you slopped up by the million, sand, pine trees by the million, watermelon, barbecue hog, "cawn bread and chittlins" and the people of Augusta, kind and friendly and open hearted.

And so they're ready for roll call next month. Brenner, Bluet, Conn, Davis, Gillette, McClelland, McKibben, on down the line, ready to answer with just as hearty a "yo" as they did on those mornings when they barely made the reveille line in time to answer.

Years ago somebody started a campaign in New Castle to have each householder put his street number on his house. It was a swell idea while it lasted, but the numbers have disappeared again, at least a lot of them have. Try and find some number on most streets and you have to stand out on the curb doing mental arithmetic.

This is no plug for door number manufacturers, but we ought to do something about it at that. Every house numbered by the Fourth of July, if you want a battle cry or slogan.

And by the same sign, the street designations aren't as plentiful as they used to be. Most of them are still up and functioning but a lot of streets are just streets, no name, "no nuthin." Imagine your embarrassment in getting in the wrong street some night and then attempting to explain how come.

Date Set For Y. W. Meeting

Annual Dinner Meeting To Take Place On Tuesday, May 23

CAROLINE MARSH WILL BE SPEAKER

Tuesday, May 23, is the date that has just been set for the annual meeting of the local Young Women's Christian association, Miss Margarette White, general secretary, stated today.

With the membership the largest it has been in many years, one of the best attended annual gatherings is anticipated. Dinner will be served at 6:30 p. m. A program, on which Miss Caroline Marsh, of Pittsburgh, will be the principal speaker, will follow the dinner.

Miss Marsh, a very charming person and an excellent speaker, worked for 8 years as a Y. W. C. A. secretary in Japan. Since September of last year she has been general secretary of the East Liberty branch Y. W. C. A. of Pittsburgh. Before going to the Orient Miss Marsh the Clarksburg, West Virginia, association, paid her salary.

"We Come Assorted" will be the theme which will be carried out in the evening's program. Girls and women from each of the New Castle Y. W. C. A. departments will tell briefly about the work of their respective departments and what it means to them to be members of the national and international association of women.

Miss Marsh will talk on the work the Young Women's Christian association is doing as a world organization—a topic with which she is very personally acquainted.

Election of representatives to the board of directors will take place. Ballots and letters will be mailed to the membership early next week.

Misses First Day At School Near End Of Her Senior Year

Brief Illness, Mars Perfect Record For Miss Bettie Davis, Norwood Ave.

Just a brief illness, which came on while she was attending classes recently, marred a perfect attendance record for Miss Bettie Davis, of Norwood avenue, Senior at the New Castle high school.

She has never been absent nor tardy since she started in grade one at school, and was looking forward to completing her high school career with a perfect record.

Her sister, Leah, who is a freshman, attending George Washington Junior high school has neither been absent nor tardy to date, the two girls having compiled an unusual attendance record between them.

Relief Load Lightens As Industry Improves; Takes 200 Off Aid List

Showing to what appreciable extent the pressure of county relief demands has lightened since April 1, following a noticeable and welcomed improvement in industrial conditions locally, County Poor Director Mansford B. Hogue today scanned his relief records and found that 200 have been dropped.

The 200 were dropped when a member of the family received employment—employment for private work or possibly public relief work.

Burden Lightens Slowly
Day after day seems to reflect a brighter outlook at the county welfare office, Court street, although a long way must still be traveled before the office can return to the normal routine it once knew.

Director Hogue isn't excited over the decrease disclosed, or at least openly he's not, but the improved conditions and the lessened relief load are nevertheless a source of satisfaction to him. Facts are facts and he goes by them: when they show an improvement he naturally feels good.

Forest Army To Help
"When Lawrence county's foresters get away it will mean another 184 families go off our lists," said Mr. Hogue. The 184 young single men, to be sent into the forests with the federal conservation corps, will support their own families while away. From their $30 monthly stipend, the government will deduct $25 for their family's use back home. The boys get the other $5.

More good industrial news has reached Mr. Hogue's office during the past two weeks than for many months since 1929.

Former Congregation Sends Delegation To Hear Dr. G. S. Bennett

A congregation that filled the auditorium and Sunday School room of the First Christian church, on the square, greeted Dr. G. S. Bennett, pastor, Sunday morning as he stepped into the pulpit to observe the thirtieth anniversary of his ministry.

A large delegation from the West Boulevard Christian church of Cleveland, where Dr. Bennett was a former pastor, greeted him, as did other members and friends from other congregations.

In September 1906 he arrived in America and after some preliminary education he went to Hiram College, Hiram, Ohio, and graduated from there in 1913, later going to Union Theological Seminary and Columbia University in New York.

After graduating at Columbia he returned to Hiram College, where he taught for a while, and then accepted a pastorate at Minneapolis, Minn., later going to the West Boulevard Christian church, at Cleveland, Ohio.

He was then called to Bethany College where he taught "Old Testament," and from this position he was called to the pastorate of the local church. Five years ago he accepted the pastorate of the First Christian church and for the first year he traveled back and forth from Bethany College, teaching during the week and preaching here Sundays. Four years ago he came here to live and devote his entire time to the local work.

His subject for the morning was "Reminiscences" and he touched the long lights of his thirty years.

Special music by the choir and organist, Mrs. Mary Virginia Peterson, featured the service, with Mrs. Fred S. Emery playing a violin number as the offertory and playing the obligato for the quartet.
